

Subcutaneous fat metastasis at presentation in cervical cancer: case report and review of the literature

Georgia Zachou<sup>1</sup>, James Dilley<sup>1</sup>, Ayshea Hameeduddin<sup>1</sup>, Millie Light<sup>1</sup>, and Saurabh Phadnis<sup>1</sup>

<sup>1</sup>Barts Health NHS Trust

November 30, 2020

Abstract

Subcutaneous metastases at presentation in cervical cancer are rare and they are associated with ominous prognosis. In this literature review, we present a case of skin metastasis and systematically review the current literature with the aim to discuss trends, treatment and survival of the reported cases.