

Highlights

- An integrated model combined the advantages of Green-Ampt model and HYDRUS model was proposed.
- An empirical infiltration distribution curve was introduced into the model.
- The model was applicable to the semi-humid and semi-arid plain areas.
- Rainfall characteristics had a significant impact on hydrological processes.