

Comparative Analysis of Rainfall Trends in the Jinghe River

Basin During 1959-2014

Xunjian Long#, Xuerou Weng#, Yan Ye * and Yong Ye

College of Resources and Environment, Southwest University, Chongqing, China

* Corresponding Author: Yan, Ye College of Resources and Environment, Southwest University, Tiansheng Road, Beibei, Chongqing, China. email: yue\_china@126.com

# These authors contributed equally to this work

Graphical Abstract :

Highlights

The ITA and IPTA methods proved to be better than MK in detecting small changes in time series.

As an improved ITA method, IPTA is suitable for a relatively short time span.